A few colonists resisted the intrusion, and formed a faction against the New Beginners, leading to the "Beginner's War." A significant intelligence coup is scored by the 7th Fleet against the Klingon Empire. Following a so-called "surrender" declaration signed by Rear Admiral Rosenzweig, supposedly transferring control of 7th Fleet vessels and personnel to the commander of the 82nd Klingon Rapid Assault Force, a squadron of drone probes, using the Sarda sensor-confusing projection devices, is sent to the Klingon border projecting images of the starships of the 7th Fleet. Klingon sensors are fooled, and the drones are escorted to the Klingon home system. Upon arrival, the drones initiate a high-speed, coded data-dump of their intelligence data to Starbase 29. They then drop the projections and fuse all their on-board equipment, ensuring that access to their technologies is impossible. The Federation Council publicly denies all knowledge of the operation. ["Fleet 7" #21]

2292 (August):

A transporter accident occurs aboard Federation Deepspace Research Facility 39, as an experimental unit being developed by Tachyon Micromechanics, Inc. malfunctions. The malfunction, exacerbated by magnetic storms and the incursion of an alien species called the I'lglii, dematerializes the entire complement of the station. The Avenger is in communication with the station at the moment of the accident, and sends a boarding party to investigate. All station personnel are recovered, and the experimental transporter is disconnected, pending an investigation. Contact is attempted with the I'lglii, but no meaningful exchange takes place. A transmission believed to originate from Star Fleet Command diverts the Avenger from its mission to deliver monitoring equipment to Garius IV. The transmission orders the ship to Matri III, where the senior staff beam down to participate in a training program to keep current in exploratory and diplomatic procedures. Meanwhile, Lt. Commander Chaym Re'ming'ton is placed in command of the ship and continues the run to Garius IV. Inadvertently violating Romulan space, the ship encounters a Romulan vessel, but avoids serious incident. Completing the delivery, the Avenger returns to Matri III and the senior staff return to their normal duties. ["Let the Fur Fly!!"]

The Avenger, en route to the Rezifan Star System on a survey mission, is encountered by vessels from the planet Kaisab. The first craft is piloted by a dissident group from that planet, while the second is a government ship. They tell of potential upheavals on Kaisab, and seek advice from the Avenger's crew on how the Federation has dealt with diversity and the conflicts that can arise from it. Avenger personnel contribute suggestions for the Kaisabans, who eventually return to their planet with some new insights into ways to resolve their internal difficulties. The Klingon commander is invited to join the Avenger on the relief mission, and—grudgingly—accepts. ["The Gauntlet"]

Returning from the relief mission to Ahlyar, the Avenger responds to a distress signal from the passenger liner S.S. Starlight. The Starlight's passengers and most of its crew are evacuated to the Avenger while repairs are made to the liner. While on a mapping run outside Federation space, the Avenger discovers a wrecked alien vessel. A boarding party brings several unusual artifacts back to the Avenger. Soon afterward, crewmembers begin acting violently, exhibiting anger and aggression. The effects are eventually traced to psi-emissions from alien life-essences trapped within some of the artifacts. The problem is resolved as the aliens are removed from the Avenger. ["Through a Distorted Lens"]

Faced with the need to redirect resources away from military endeavors, the Klingons--led by Chancellor Gorkon--sue for peace with the Federation. CH 1701-A Enterprise, with her senior-most officers--James Kirk, Spock, Leonard McCoy, and Montgomery Scott--due to retire from space duty, is assigned to escort the chancellor's vessel to Earth. During the voyage, the chancellor is assassinated. Kirk and McCoy are arrested, tried, and convicted of the crime, and are sentenced to permanent exile on Rura Penthe. They are subsequently rescued, and--with the assistance of Captain Sulu and the crew of the Excelsior (CH 2000)--expose a conspiracy to derail the peace process at the conference site on Khitomer. All charges are dropped, and a period of detente between the Federation and Klingon Empire begins.

["Star Trek VI: The Undiscovered Country"]

2293 (October):

The Avenger conducts a geological survey of the asteroid belt of 356 Sagittae, cataloguing its resources to determine if Star Fleet development of the system is feasible. During this survey, Avenger small craft encounter an alien Von Neumann Machine. Nanomachines from this Machine destroy an Avenger Wasp-type fighter and threaten the ship. The Avenger's crew is able to input directives to the Machine to convince it to construct a courier to send a contact message back to its homeworld. The Machine is then destroyed and a flotilla of Avenger-constructed nanomachines sent into the asteroid belt to clear it of the alien nanomachines. A one-year quarantine is placed on the system, to allow sufficient time for the alien nanomachines to be cleared. ["Within the Belt"]

2293 (November):

The Avenger, while on a survey mission in the Ohkirot Star System, is diverted to Starbase 29 to prepare for a conference with the Daltexi. The conference will take place on Parliament, and the Avenger--along with several other vessels--is to ferry ambassadors. In order to continue the survey, the shuttlecraft Talisman is left in the Ohkirot System. A stellar flare damages the shuttle, and it is forced to crash-land on Ohkirot II. Following the conclusion of the conference's opening ceremonies, the Avenger returns to Ohkirot and rescues the shuttle's crew. There is only one casualty, but the Talisman is a total loss. A replacement shuttle is requisitioned from Star Fleet.

Its layover complete, the Avenger departs Rhadamanthus II, bound for Velta II. While traveling through the Delgadi Triam Cluster, the ship encounters a tachyon aperture, and stops to investigate. The subsequent discovery of a futuristic shuttlecraft deepens the mystery, and the arrival of a Federation vessel from the future, which attacks the Avenger, leads to still more confusion. Temporarily augmented systems, courtesy of LT Christopher Underwood, allow Avenger to survive the battle, after which the CO of the other ship reveals that the Avenger was believed captured by terrorists and taken back to the past. The misunderstanding cleared up, the crew of the future vessel aids in partial repairs to Avenger, and returns to its own time. The Avenger returns to Rhadamanthus II to complete repairs. ["Hidden Agenda"]

A Federation research outpost orbiting Davlor IV, near the Romulan Neutral Zone, is caught in a solar flare. The Avenger is assigned to carry emergency supplies and medical assistance to the outpost. The ship encounters a Romulan patrol group, and a saboteur is discovered aboard the Avenger. The timely arrival at Davlor IV of a squadron of perimeter action ships permits the completion of the evacuation of the outpost to prevent the researchers' capture by the Romulans, and the saboteur is discovered and arrested. During this mission, for a 24-hour period, a multi-parallel space-time inversion takes place, transposing Vice Admiral Rosenzweig with his counterpart in an alternate universe, a science fiction fan who leads a fan club for a television and movie series on 20th Century Earth. The transposition reverses itself at the end of the 24 hours, and the occurrence is unnoticed by the rest of the Avenger's crew. ["King for a Day"]

The Avenger, accompanied by FT 1842 Accord, returns to the Rukbat System to observe the final phase of the colony vessel Yokohama's AIVAS computer's plan to rid Pern (Rukbat III) of the scourge of Thread that has threatened the colony. No contact is made with the Pernese. ["A Voyage to Pern"]

The Avenger's seventh shipboard fire-lizard hatching takes place. ["A Voyage to Pern"--Extrapolation]

Ensign Charles Donovan is assigned to the Avenger as a Laboratory Technician (Linguistics). Immediately following this, the ship is assigned to patrol duty along the Romulan Neutral Zone in conjunction with PA 1046 Amastra and PA 1042 Echo. Ensign Donovan exposes a sabotage attempt on the ship's translators that nearly results in an incident with the Romulans. The situation is resolved, and Donovan is commended. ["Arrival"/"Admiralty Orders to FCAPT Robert Vosseller"]

Attending a Command Mechanics conference, Vice Admiral Alex Rosenzweig meets Commander Elizabeth Faraday, Executive Officer of SA 2627 Tau Ceti. They quickly become friends. Rosenzweig will subsequently fall in love with Faraday. ["Be Not as an Island"]

Following the transfer of 7th Fleet command, the Avenger embarks on a month-long exploration mission outside of Federation space. ["Admiralty Orders to FCAPT Robert Vosseller"]

2294 (October):

On a mission near the Great Barrier, the starship New Horizons encounters the entity formerly believed destroyed by CH 1701-A Enterprise and the Bird of Prey Okrona at "Sha-Ka-Ree". Inadvertently brought aboard the starship, the entity compels Captain Kirsia Stratus to bring the ship—and itself—to Starbase 29, where it attempts to gain control of the base. Enraged by fierce resistance from the base's personnel, it destroys a large portion of the starbase, rendering it non-operational. (Repair-time is estimated to be several years.) A task force led by CE 1676 Challenger and including the starships Wolf, Endurance, Raptor, Sovereign, Lexington, and Triton responds to the base's distress call and arrives to discover the aftermath. They then pursue the New Horizons. Captain Stratus is able to beam the entity into space, where it is engaged by the task force. The Challenger, Sovereign, Wolf, and Raptor use an energy snare to destroy the entity. In the wake of these events, the 7th Fleet is temporarily re-homeported at Starbase 7, pending completion of a general strategic review by Star Fleet Command. ["Photorp Chronicles" vol. 3, issue 2; "New Frontiers"; Statements from Region VII Command/COMM Bob Vosseller; "Aftermath"]

The U.S.S. Enterprise (NCC-1701-B) is commissioned under the command of Captain John Harriman. During a demonstration cruise, the unprepared vessel responds to a distress call from 2 transport ships carrying El-Aurian refugees which are caught in a space-time anomaly. The transports are destroyed, but 47 survivors—including Guinan and Dr. Tolian Soran—are rescued. During this action, Captain James Kirk—aboard as a dignitary—is lost (and believed killed) in action while saving the Enterprise from an energy ribbon surrounding the anomaly. ["Star Trek Generations"/"Star Trek Generations" Novelization/Federation (modified per the Star Trek Chronology (Revised))]

2294 (November):

While on patrol near Star System L117GA, the Avenger passes through an energy field, resulting in the apparent death of one crewmember. It is later revealed that the energy field has altered this crewmember into an alien form bent on exacting revenge for injustices imagined by the crewmember. The creature is destroyed, but only after several other crewmembers are killed. ["Thy Avenging Spirit"]

2295 (February):

The Avenger's eighth shipboard fire-lizard hatching takes place. ["A Voyage to Pern"--Extrapolation]

Following the repairs to K-12, Avenger is routed to Starbase 7 to pick up retiring Admiral Jean-Luc Lassard and bring him and his family, including three young children, to Norpin V. When the youngest child wanders off, he precipitates a chain of events that disrupts the ship's routine, including causing a loss of gravity on several decks and minor injuries to a few crewmembers. After an extensive search, the child is found and returned to his parents. The remainder of the trip takes place without incident. ["A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to Norpin"]

The ship is saved from imminent destruction when the entire complement of fire-lizards teleports it out of the way of the incoming torpedo. However, when the torpedo explodes while the fire-lizards are in the act of teleporting back inside, they are all lost. ["The Greatest Sacrifice"]

Having received word that Star Fleet considers the evidence of Captain Anbinder's survival insufficient, Commander Kinne and Admiral Rosenzweig call a council of their most trusted officers, including Kinne, Cohen, Getty, Buck, and Captain Carlos Maldonado, Jr. They decide that Rosenzweig will use his influence to get leave for himself, Kinne, and Cohen, and the three of them will go in search of Anbinder privately. Cohen, insisting he knows where a ship can be found who will be able to do the job well and inexpensively, takes off for the Triangle. Maldonado, recognizing that he will need an Accord officer who knows the New Colonies situation if Avenger is to successfully do Accord's job while it's in dock, asks for Major Getty to be appointed his acting XO.
