(Q-Tip: there's a few Klingon drinking songs out there on the internet, but you could always write your own if you feel the blood of Kahless stirring in your veins.)	15	Video
12	You Must Have Been A Beautiful Baby: Find one of your baby pictures and create a selfie with it to show us a "Then and Now" image. (Q-Tip: If you can't find an actual baby picture, it can be a picture as young as possible.)	5	Image

Create a timeline of all of the actors that can claim the role of "Spock" on their resumes. Also include the name of series and/or movie(s) they were in with the year(s) of the role. Round out the timeline with pictures of the actors. (Q-Tip: The pictures can be in or out of character.)	10	Document
14	Such a Q-T!: Have you meant my brother, Q? He is the quintessential quirky Q. Yes, Q is sometimes querulous and quarrelsome. However, he's usually just quizzical and quick. To burn off steam, he loves to toy with Humans. Believe me, the rest of the Q are truly delighted whenever that happens	5	Document because, frankly, he's not bothering us. Can you Create a document of pictures with my brother Q doing the following things in the Human realm?:

15	Honey, I've Shrunk Your Quarters: Are you a neat freak, closet hoarder, or something in between? Madam Q has played a joke on you and has shrunk your USS Avenger crew quarters down to roughly the size of a shoe box. Take a small box and build a diorama of your quarters within. Use any materials you like to showcase your personal style. Take a picture or two to show what has happened.	10	Image(s)
16	Moments with Muppets: Over time, some Trek actors have shared the camera with Muppets. Find pictures of different actors interacting with those lovable puppets and scrapbook them into a fun little document worthy of those zany Muppets. (Q-Tip: Try to find at least five different actors.)	5	Document
17	Who's Your Daddy?: Through the many series and movies of Star Trek, we have not only gotten to know the regular characters, but, in many cases, we have also meant their progeny. Find pictures of at least fifteen Trek characters, then match them up with pictures of their children. Put them all together into a document. (Q-Tip: The children can be biological, adopted, or created. Anything goes as long as they are considered that character's "child". They can be from the actual timeline, dreams, alternate timelines, or altered states of reality.)	5	Document
18	Vacation, Time to Get Away: You and a friend have won an all-inclusive week on Risa. So, just what are the most stylish Intergalactic travelers wearing this season? Reach out to one of your fellow Questers to design matching travel ensembles for the trip. Take a few snapshots, then Photoshop yourselves together into a Risian backdrop. (Q-Tip: Don't forget to include Horga'hn or two in the picture.)	15	Image
19	Wanted Dead or Alive: Captain Sarah Rosenzweig of the USS Avenger is a fugitive of the Klingon Empire. She had been sentenced to 500 years of hard labor in the dilithium mines on Rura Penthe. Somehow, she vanished without a trace and the Klingons are so mad that they're spitting flaming targ bones. You receive a coded transmission from Qo'noS, which turned out to be a Wanted Poster for the captain. Surprisingly, it is similar to the ones seen on Old Earth during the era known as the Wild, Wild West. Create a Klingon-style, old-timey Wanted Poster for Sarah with all of the bells and whistles on it. (Q-Tip: Make sure to include all of her many, many trumped-up charges and the amount of darseks that have been placed on her head.)	10	Document
20	Let's Make It Spicy! After reading reports on the loss of USS Discovery, your dreams have been plagued with images of a bizarre Red Angel. Using only spices found in your kitchen as a medium, create your vision of the Red Angel. Snap a picture of your zesty confection to share with posterity.	10	Image

21	It's You Federation, Welcome! Show your pride in the United Federation of Planets by creating a collage of all species that have full membership in the Federation. Find a way to designate Founding Members and Council Members from regular members. (Q-Tip: Any member planets/species that do not have recorded names can be skipped.) Take as many pictures as needed to show off your work.	5	Image(s)
22	Book Report Time: Remember when you were a kid and the teacher assigned you to write a book report? Well, here we go again, but this time you need to create a video book report (less than a minute long) of your all-time favorite book. (Q-Tip: It doesn't have to be part of the Star Trek universe.) Record yourself giving us a quick synopsis and explain why you can read it over and over. Why should we add it to our reading list?	15	Video
23	Space Shanty: Some people like to whistle while they work. Others, though, prefer to sing. Ancient Mariners would come up with little ditties known as Sea Shanties. Not to be out-done, Spacemen have long sung their own little work songs, affectionally known as Space Shanties. Come up with your own jaunty little Space Shanty that has a Star Trek or USS Avenger theme and perform it in a short, creative video. Be sure to submit both the video and lyrics. (Q-Tip: You may want to contact a fellow Quester or two to work on this together. After all, the more the merrier.)	15	Video and Document
24	Life Can Be Black and White: Pull out your favorite black and white face paints because it's time to get your Cheron on. Take a selfie of yourself as a well-dressed Cheron to help prove that life is not fifty shades of grey.	10	Image
25	Just Role with It: Actors flit from one role to another like a Phoenix reborn from the ashes. Some have had the opportunity to portray vary different characters in the Star Trek franchise. Uncover at least ten actors and match them to the Trek roles that have played. Slap them all together in a document for submission, labeling each with the actor or character name. (Q-Tip: Include a picture of the actor along with pictures of them in costume. Remember, some actors have been recycled more than others.)	5	Document
26	Games That People Play: Down time is important for the well-being of every brave Starfleet officer. The Rec Rooms are always full of officers leisurely playing games of chance or strategy. Monitors televise anything from Parries Squares to Water polo. Holodecks can be used for research, training, or a little fantasy. When it comes to fun, they've got it, but can you find it? Scour the internet for at least fifteen examples of recreational activities found in the Trek universe. Plunk them altogether into a document for submission.	5	Document
27	I Re-write the Songs: Take the tune of the "Alphabet Song" and re-write the lyrics. Swap out each letter of the Alphabet for the name of a Star Trek character whose name starts with that letter. Create a short video of yourself preforming your new hit song and provide a document of the lyrics.	10	Video
28	They Grow Up So Fast: On Voyager, Seven of Nine "adopts" four little Borg children and becomes their teacher for a time. What were the Borg kid names and the names of the young actors? Also, try to find with pictures of them in character as Borg children and now as the adults they've become.	5	Document

29	Blowing It Up: You've gotta have some balloons at a party, right? Show the Avenger some anniversary love by creating the club's symbol as balloon art. Don't forget to take a picture to share with the crew.	15	Image
30	Captain, My Captain: Madam Q has manipulated reality, space, and time. You come out of a thick mental fog to find yourself in the Captain's chair of the USS Avenger with the ship in Red Alert and all eyes turned to you. You quickly realize that your crew is in a fight for their lives against a previously unknown and malevolent species that designate themselves as the Borg. Write an emergency Captain's Log entry, detailing to StarFleet your gruesome First Contact. Explain the efforts required to keep Avenger's crew from being assimilated as the ship limps back to the closest Starbase for repairs.	5	Document
31	Concierge Confusion: You awake from a stupor with your head throbbing like you've had a few too many Samarian Sunsets. Slowly, you register the feeling of hot breath on your neck and your name being growled way too close to your ear. Squinting through blurred vision, you recognize that you're sitting behind a desk. The biggest, bluest Bolian that you have ever seen is glowering at you and demanding to know if you have completed the Stardust City brochure yet. Glancing around, your befuddled mind pieces together that you are in an office with the name on the door, reading: "Q-Tinuuum Holiday and Travel Agency". There also appears to be a motto: "Charting the Unimagined Possibilities of Existence by Expanding Your Horizons and Titillating Your Mind". Somehow, Madam Q has snatched you from your USS Avenger duty station and deposited you here...wherever and whenever "here" happens to be. You tell him that you'll get right on it. Create a one-page travel flier, exalting all of the exhilarating activities and the wondrous sights to be experienced in the colorful establishments on FreeCloud. (Q-Tip: Don't forget to plug the unrivalled luxuries that can be found at the Q-Yatt Stardust Fantasy Resort, Casino, Spa, and Holosuites, conveniently located in the very heart of Stardust City.)	15	Document
32	Wish Upon a Q: Madam Q has decided to show you how benevolent she truly can be...deep down inside. She offers you one adventure of a lifetime. You can choose to go anywhere and, in any time, as long as it's in the in the known universe. While there, you can visit with anyone one or do anything you want. However, the catch...and there's always a catch...is that can't use words to communicate your desired destination. You have to show Madam Q in pictures. After all, a picture is worth a thousand words, right? Create a scrapbook page to show Madam Q details of where you would go, what would you do there, who you would see, where would you stay, what would you eat, and who would you take with you. Remember, the universe is your playground and time is irrelevant. Just think...you could Party Like It's 1999 actually in 1999. Vacation...it's time to get away.	5	Document
33	Help Neelix: Neelix needs some new recipes to cook for his crew. So, he's creating an Intergalactic Cook-Off Contest and you're planning to enter. Pick your all-time favorite recipe. Don your wildest, Neelix-istic Chef's hat and apron. Record a wacky, creative demo of yourself creating the dish. Explain why your dish should be the contest winner. Submit your video entry with a copy of the recipe.	15	Video and Document

34	Just a Neuron Off the Old Positronic Cortex: Show off your inner genealogist by creating a family tree for Commander Data. (Q-Tip: Be as detailed as possible and include pictures of the lovely family members.)	5	Document
35	The Better to Communicate with You, My Dear: Madam Q is totally annoyed with Commander Tucker...and you NEVER want to be on the bad side of an omnipotent being! During a dinner with Madam Q; Captain Archer; and himself, Trip constantly fiddled with his communicator, enraging the Q with his inattention. The next morning, he found the device on his bed, but it had been enlarged to the size of a bread box. Re-create Trip's newly augmented communicator, using as many recycled materials as possible. Take a photo or two to show what the gigantic device would look like in your hands. (Q-Tip: the more details, be the better.)	10	Image(s)
36	Time to Play Favorites: Dress up like your favorite Avenger - comic, literary, or real life. Take a selfie to show us your new look. (Q-Tip: Don't forget to indicate who you are trying to mimic.)	10	Image
37	How Cheesy Can This Be?: If the moon is made of cheese, a could a ship be built from cheese as well? Using cheese as a medium, make a 3-D model of a ship called Enterprise. The model should be at least ten inches in length. The type of cheese is totally up to you. Some other materials can be used for underlying support as long as they're not visible. Remember to snap a shot or two to show off your shipbuilding endeavors. (Q-Tip: the ship doesn't actually have to be one designed for space travel.)	15	Image(s)
38	Art is in the Eye of the Beholder: Captain Jonathan Archer has some very handsome pencil art on the wall of his Ready Room on the Enterprise. Download the pictures from the internet. Make an exhibit of the artworks, making sure to label each with the name of item in the picture. Include somewhere the name of the original artist.	5	Document
39	The Answer is Blowing in the Solar Wind: Create two Star-Jellies (aka Farpoint Entities aka Skymounts) as mobiles in their jellyfish-ish forms. You can you use any materials you like, but the mobiles should end up being at least two feet tall. Hang them somewhere in your quarters where the air currents might catch their tentacles and cause them to sway. By the way, your Jellies are in deep, everlasting love; so, entwine at least one set of their tentacles together. Snap a photo of the beloveds.	10	Image
40	The Mystical, Magical Obelisk: A strange obelisk appears on a table in your Avenger quarters. Slowly, a green glow starts to originate from it, projecting ancient Vulcan text onto the ceiling. You pick up the stone monolith to more closely examine the writing on its sides. Could this be Surak's mythical Kir'Shara and, if so, how did it suddenly appear here? You inadvertently touch a couple of its symbols. The green glow turns to red. An electrical shock wave surges from the artifact through your body, causing you slip into unconsciousness. You awake a short time later on the floor with the obelisk at your side. It appears undamaged, except its structure is no longer the same. Instead, it appears to be made of some congealed, meaty substance once known as Spam. You feel your next promotion slip away as you realize that the Vulcan High Command will not be amused with this new Spam-o-	10	Image lisk. Carve this Spam'Shara from that congealed meaty substance. Take a picture of your Spam-o-licious artifact for posterity.

41	Karaoke Time: Everyone loves karaoke, right? Reach out to one of the other Questers and ask if they would like to karaoke with you. Meet up on Zoom, Facebook Video Chat, or some other type platform. Video the two of you singing "Where My Heart Will Take Me", the original theme of Enterprise. (Q-Tip: The song was written by Diane Warren and performed by Russell Watson.)	10	Video
42	Say It with A Q-Mark: Of course, it's the USS Avenger's 36 th Anniversary and the Q Continuum's Q-Mark Cards has created a very unique line of greeting cards for the blessed event. Design a very special anniversary card for your fellow Avenger crewmates. Be as creative and poetic as you wish. The card could be created with any medium from crayons on paper to some fancy schmancy card program on a computer. The card must have a front, back, and inside. Once complete, take some pictures of the card for Quest submission. However, mail the actual card to Captain Sarah and ask her to share your anniversary greetings with the crew at the next meeting. (Q-Tip: Make sure to proudly display the authentic Q-Mark Cards logo on the back of the card.)	10	Document and Images
43	Scare Away the Crones: You don't need unwanted visitors, especially during the pandemic. So, shoo them away with your very own Klingon scarecrow. Make a life-sized Klingon scarecrow, all decked out in his/her finest battle armor. Place it on your front porch, front doorstep, etc. to protect your quarters. Capture a picture or two of your new sentinel, scaring an old crone from your place.	15	Image(s)
44	The Best-Laid Plans..: What could be sweeter than a romantic breakfast in bed for you and your Imzadi? You've spent a week mulling over the idea. Just what would be the perfect delectables to serve? Should there be orange juice, iced Raktajinos, or Plomeek Tea to drink? Would it be too much to include a Fredalia Flower? On that special morning, you sneak out to the Food Replicator, call up your order and...presto...all of edibles turn out smelling marvelous. However, there's just one glaring problem.... They're fraught with every color of the rainbow in what could only be called a classic Tie-dye. You quickly throw the food away and try several more times. Each time, the food turns out the same. Is the Food Replicator acting up or is it Madam Q playing games? Sadly, you decide just to go with it. Create your wonderfully colorful breakfast and take a photo to show the crew.	10	Image
45	To Mural or not to Mural: Now is the time to be creative and help save the environment all at once. Using junk mail and other recycled materials, design a Star Trek or USS Avenger themed mural for a door in your domicile. Take a picture to show off your masterpiece.	15	Image
46	It's a Nice Day for a Trek Wedding: When it comes to Trek characters tying the knot, their weddings are always out of this world. Some are quiet, little ceremonies. Others are big, raucous affairs. All are definitely memorable. Search for pictures of at least eight happy couples saying their "I do's" and scrapbook them into a beautiful little wedding album.	5	Document

47	Back to the '60's: Madam Q has decided that the stuffy old Monster Maroons uniforms are just plain 'ol boring! So, she has decided to add some color to your wardrobe by switching everything out for fashion from the '60's. We're not talking the 2360's either, but the 1960's Earth Flower Child area. Slip into your most stylish hippie look and snap a picture of how you appeared arriving for your next duty shift.	10	Image
48	Don't Go Breaking My Horta: Maybe you can take a moment to review the Horta culture as you create your very own toy Horta. The toy should be at least ten inches long and made of as many recycled materials as possible. The kicker here is that you must make a video of it moving under its own power. (Q-Tip: This means no pushing it with hands, feet, or nose. No pulling it along by a thread. Definitely, no spells of wizardry or Elven magic.)	15	Video
49	It's Literally a Piece of Cake: Go into your domicile's kitchen and whip up a cake of any flavor of your choosing. Decorate it to celebrate the USS Avenger's 36 th Anniversary. 50	You're Throwing A Party: The USS Avenger's 36 th Anniversary is upon us and it is time to party. Due to the COVID-19 pandemic, we're having "socially distance parties". Decorate any room of your quarters to celebrate. You must include some type of sign or banner that says: "Happy 36 th Anniversary, USS Avenger". Take a photo of your perfect party pad.	15	Image
